

Interfaith as Interdisciplinary: The Value of Learning about the Religious Other

A PANEL DISCUSSION WITH:

Rhonda Hill
(Moderator)

Founder, Race and Faith

Dr. Andrew Kim

*Director, Center for the Advancement of the Humanities
Marquette University*

Pardeep S. Kaleka

Executive Director, Interfaith Conference of Greater Milwaukee

Janan Najeeb

President, Milwaukee Muslim Women's Coalition

Kaitlyn C. Daly

*PhD Student,
Duke University*

Dr. Irfan A. Omar

*Associate Professor,
Marquette University*

Rebecca DeBoer

*Senior, Educational Studies and Psychology
Marquette University*

Fatima Farooq

*Sophomore, Biochemistry and Molecular Biology
Marquette University*

Clare Herrig

*Senior, Data Science
Marquette University*

Lauren Harrison

*Junior, English Literature
Marquette University*

Monday, February 21st
from 5:00 – 6:30 PM
via YouTube

Please register on Eventbrite for “Interfaith as Interdisciplinary: The Value of Learning about the Religious Other”

This panel brings together community leaders, activists, faculty members, and students from various faith traditions to discuss the value of learning about the faith of others and how it may contribute to personal growth and community cohesion

