GREEN LIVING CERTIFICATION

What is the Certification?

The Green Living Certification is a way for you, as a student, to reflect on your environmental impact and encourage the adoption of eco-conscious behaviors now and beyond Marquette.

This certification is currently available to students living in Marquette University's residence halls and apartments.

The Survey

The survey is divided into five categories and a sixth bonus section. Under each category are a series of sustainable lifestyle choices you will be asked to answer "Yes" or "No" to.

The seventh section of the survey asks for a submission of five photos to verify some of the answers. For example, you can submit a picture of you riding the bus.

Scoring

Each category is assigned points that reflect the environmental impact. The sustainable lifestyle actions you do under each category earns you that number of points. For example: Actions under the Energy category are four points, if you say “Yes” to “I unplug items when not in use” you will receive four points. There are 142 points possible to earn. Once completed, the survey will be scored and a response with the earned level of certification will be sent to the respondent.

Seedling: 36-71 points

Sapling: 72-107 points

In Bloom: 108-142 points

Recognition

When you receive a score, you will have two options for recognition:

- Logo for your email signature
- Paper certificate printed on FSC certified paper

Those who receive the "In Bloom" level will also get to do A Day in the Life feature on the @marquetteugreen Instagram page.

Additional Information

The student may take the survey only once a semester. If the student wishes to take the survey again for a higher level of certification, they may submit the survey again another semester.
